

PRINTABLE ITINERARY

3-Day Prague Cafe Itinerary

From our guide Top 10 Best Cafes in Prague. Print it or save it to your phone.

You can taste the best of Prague's cafe scene in three days by grouping the stops by area. The itinerary below is also available as a free printable PDF from the download box near the top of this guide.

Day 1: Old Town and Nové Město

Start with coffee and cake at the Kavárna Obecní dům, then walk along Celetná to Grand Café Orient for a look at the Cubist interior. Stop at Onesip Coffee for an espresso, then take the Metro or walk to Café Imperial for lunch and a look at its tiles.

Day 2: Malá Strana and the river

Begin with breakfast at Café Savoy, then spend the late morning in Malá Strana or on Petřín hill. In the afternoon, walk along the river to Café Slavia for a view of the National Theatre, then continue to Café Louvre for coffee and cake. Finish with a coffee at EMA if you want a final espresso.

Day 3: Dejvice and Karlín

Take the Metro to Dejvice for brunch at Kavárna Místo, then walk in the nearby parks. In the afternoon, travel to Karlín for coffee at Můj šálek kávy and a walk through the district. Both cafes are run by the same roasters, so you can compare the two.

The 10 places at a glance

1. Café Savoy

How to get there: Tram to Újezd, then a short walk along Vítězná.

How long to spend: One to two hours, longer for a full breakfast.

Best time to go: A weekday morning, before the brunch crowd arrives.

Tip: Book ahead for weekend brunch, and sit near the windows for the best light on the ceiling.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

2. Café Louvre

How to get there: Tram or Metro to Národní třída, a short walk from the station.

How long to spend: One to two hours for coffee and cake, longer for a meal.

Best time to go: Mid-morning or mid-afternoon, which are calmer than lunch.

Tip: Look at the window seats, which give a view over the street and a sense of how the cafe worked as a meeting place.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

3. Café Slavia

How to get there: Tram to Národní divadlo, then a short walk to the river.

How long to spend: One to two hours.

Best time to go: A weekday afternoon, ideally with a window table.

Tip: Arrive just before the National Theatre crowd for a better chance of a view table.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

4. Kavárna Obecní dům

How to get there: Metro to Náměstí Republiky, then a one-minute walk.

How long to spend: One hour for coffee and cake, or two with a tour.

Best time to go: Early morning, before the tour groups arrive.

Tip: Combine the visit with a tour of the Municipal House, which is sold separately.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

5. Grand Café Orient

How to get there: Metro to Náměstí Republiky, then a short walk along Celetná.

How long to spend: One hour for coffee, or two with the museum.

Best time to go: A weekday morning, when the room is calm and the light is good.

Tip: The claim to be the only Cubist cafe in the world comes from travel guides, so enjoy it as a local boast rather than a verified record.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

6. Café Imperial

How to get there: Metro to Náměstí Republiky, then a short walk along Na Poříčí.

How long to spend: One to two hours, or longer for a meal.

Best time to go: Mid-morning, when the cafe is calm and the light shows the tiles.

Tip: Look up at the ceiling and the pillars before you sit down, as the mosaics are the main attraction.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

7. Kavárna Místo

How to get there: Metro to Dejvická, then a short walk or tram ride.

How long to spend: One to two hours.

Best time to go: A weekday morning for brunch, or mid-afternoon for a quieter coffee.

Tip: Order a filter coffee to see what the roasters can do, rather than defaulting to a flat white.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

8. Můj šálek kávy

How to get there: Metro to Křižíkova, then a short walk along Křižíkova street.

How long to spend: One to two hours.

Best time to go: A weekday morning, when the room is calm.

Tip: Combine it with Místo on the same day for a comparison of the same roaster in two settings.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

9. Onesip Coffee

How to get there: Walk from Old Town Square, or take the Metro to Náměstí Republiky and walk.

How long to spend: 20 to 40 minutes.

Best time to go: Mid-morning on a weekday, to avoid a wait for a seat.

Tip: Order a single-origin espresso or filter coffee and ask which beans are on offer that day.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

10. EMA Espresso Bar

How to get there: Metro to Náměstí Republiky or Florenc, then a short walk to Na Florenci.

How long to spend: 20 to 40 minutes.

Best time to go: Early morning, for a coffee before a day of sightseeing.

Tip: If you are staying in Karlín, the branch in Palác Karlín saves a trip into the centre.

Read more | Open in Google Maps

Getting around Prague

Prague has an efficient public transport network of Metro, trams and buses, and most of the cafes in this guide are close to a stop. Use the Prague public transport website for routes, tickets and timetables.

The Old Town and Nové Město are easy to explore on foot, and the distances between the historic cafes are short. For Dejvice and Karlín, a Metro or tram ride is the easiest way, and both are a short journey from the centre.

Opening times, prices and transport change often, so check with each venue or operator before you go. For the full guide, photos and FAQs, see <https://toptravelinsider.com/top-10-best-cafes-in-prague/>.