PRINTABLE ITINERARY

3-Day Paris Wine Bar Itinerary

From our guide Top 10 Best Wine Bars in Paris. Print it or save it to your phone.

These plans use only bars from this guide. Book where you can, and keep a backup nearby.

Day 1: Aligre and the Marais

Start with a glass and a plate at Le Baron Rouge near the Aligre market, ideally on a market morning. In the evening, take the metro to the Marais for Le Barav, arriving early, then walk to Le Mary Celeste for oysters and a final glass.

Day 2: Canal Saint-Martin and Oberkampf

Begin at Le Verre Volé near the canal for a natural wine and a bistro dinner, booked in advance. Afterwards, take the metro or walk to Oberkampf for a lively glass at Aux Deux Amis. If you prefer something quieter, swap Aux Deux Amis for La Cave du Paul Bert in the 11th.

Day 3: The Palais-Royal and Sentier

Spend the early evening around the Palais-Royal, starting at Verjus, then walk to Willi's Wine Bar for a Rhône wine. If you want a longer meal, choose Juvéniles instead. Finish with small plates at Frenchie Bar à Vins, a short walk away in the 2nd arrondissement.

The 10 places at a glance

1. Le Baron Rouge

How to get there: Metro to Ledru-Rollin or Faidherbe-Chaligny, then a short walk to the Aligre market.
How long to spend: One to two hours, or a long lunch on market day.
Best time to go: A weekend morning with the market, or an early weekday evening.
Tip: Order by the glass and a shared plate, and check the hours, which vary by day.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

2. Le Barav

How to get there: Metro to Saint-Sébastien Froissart, Filles du Calvaire or Chemin Vert, then a short walk.
How long to spend: One to two hours.
Best time to go: Early evening, before the bar fills.
Tip: Arrive early for a seat, and ask the staff to choose a wine to suit your taste.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

3. Le Verre Volé

How to get there: Metro to Jacques Bonsergent or République, then a short walk to the canal.
How long to spend: One hour for a drink, or two for a meal.
Best time to go: A weekday evening, or a weekend with a booking.
Tip: Check the website for current hours and book if you want a meal.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

4. Aux Deux Amis

How to get there: Metro to Parmentier or Oberkampf, then a short walk along rue Oberkampf.
How long to spend: One to two hours.
Best time to go: Early evening, before the room fills.
Tip: Check the opening days before you go, and share a few plates.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

5. Verjus Bar à Vins

How to get there: Metro to Palais Royal, Pyramides or Bourse, then a short walk to the gardens.
How long to spend: One to two hours.
Best time to go: A weekday early evening.
Tip: Check the opening days, as the bar has reportedly been closed at weekends.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

6. Willi's Wine Bar

How to get there: Metro to Bourse, Palais Royal or Pyramides, then a short walk.
How long to spend: One to two hours, or longer for dinner.
Best time to go: Early evening, or with a booking for dinner.
Tip: Ask for a Rhône wine by the glass and let the staff choose.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

7. Juvéniles

How to get there: Metro to Palais Royal, Pyramides or Bourse, then a short walk along rue de Richelieu.
How long to spend: Two hours for a meal, or one for a drink.
Best time to go: Lunch or early evening, with a booking.
Tip: It is open on weekdays only, so check the hours before you go.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

8. Frenchie Bar à Vins

How to get there: Metro to Sentier or Réaumur-Sébastopol, then a short walk.
How long to spend: One to two hours.
Best time to go: Soon after opening on a weekday.
Tip: Walk in early, as there are no reservations, and share small plates.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

9. La Cave du Paul Bert

How to get there: Metro to Faidherbe-Chaligny or Charonne, then a short walk.
How long to spend: One to two hours.
Best time to go: Early evening, soon after it opens.
Tip: Check the current hours and what is on the menu before you go.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

10. Le Mary Celeste

How to get there: Metro to Filles du Calvaire or Saint-Sébastien Froissart, then a short walk.
How long to spend: One to two hours.
Best time to go: Early evening, before the crowds arrive.
Tip: Share oysters and plates, and check the current hours on the official site.
Read more | Open in Google Maps

Getting around Paris

The metro is the quickest way to reach most wine bars, and many are a short walk from a station. Check the RATP website for current tickets, routes and late-night services, as the metro does not run all night. Night buses cover many routes, and taxis are an option for late returns. Walking between the Palais-Royal bars or around the Marais is pleasant in good weather. Plan your route home before you start, particularly if you finish in the east of the city.

Opening times, prices and transport change often, so check with each venue or operator before you go. For the full guide, photos and FAQs, see https://toptravelinsider.com/top-10-best-wine-bars-in-paris/.